1ST RESPONDER CHALLENGE FACT SHEET

A key component of the Run To Remember Los Angeles race is the 1st Responder Challenge. This is a team event for the half marathon with a cash prize for the fastest teams by category. To compete, any 1st Responder department from across the country can field a team of 5 or more active members to run the half marathon. There is no limit to the size of your team. A department can also field multiple teams. We want departments to participate to show support and to be a part of the tribute, regardless of what the team pace is.

1st Responder Challenge benefits:

- The top teams will earn a donation to a charity of their choice or for use in their department
- We will circulate a media release announcing the winning departments and the charity they support
- A trophy will be provided to each top department and top three males and females in the challenge
- Teams registered by January 1st will be listed on the 1st Responder Challenge Banner
- Each team member will receive a special limited edition commemorative Challenge Coin

Prize Money for the 2017 1st Responder Challenge

Note: Each award level is based upon a minimum of 3 qualifying teams per award category.

Here are the key requirements for the competitive teams:

- Each competitive team must have at least 5 runners
- All runners must be sworn, active 1st Responders at the time of the race
- Each runner must register individually
- It is ok to have a sponsor pay for the registration fee for the team members. If this is the case – have each team member fill out a paper application from the race website. They can be mailed in by each officer, with a note stating who the payment will be coming from, or as a group. Only paid applications will be entered into the race database and receive race entry
- Prize money is only awarded to teams competing in the Half Marathon
- The 5 fastest runners on each team will have their time averaged to determine the 3 fastest teams
- When registering, answer “yes” to the question “Are you an active 1st Responder”, then enter your department name
